Health & Safety Policy JENOPTIK Robot GmbH

By establishing and maintaining a safe, health- and performance-oriented working environment, as well as a comprehensive health and safety management system, we ensure the continuity and success of our company. We take our responsibilities towards employees, society and future generations very seriously. We are therefore committed to constantly improving the safety and health of our employees and minimizing adverse effects. The Management Directors and our employees are committed to this safety at work policy.

Reliable actions

We commit ourselves to comply with all laws and specifications concerning occupational safety, as well as those relating to the management of hazardous substances. We act responsibly in accordance with our own regulations, which often reach beyond those stipulated by law. JENOPTIK Robot GmbH actively cooperates with the responsible authorities in advance of planned measures for environmentally relevant processes, procedures, products and safety occupational safety and accident prevention measures. Machinery and equipment are planned, operated and maintained in such a way that hazards and risks are minimized and operational disruptions are avoided. We use the latest, state-of-the-art technology and systems.

Safety for our Employees

We firmly believe that all occupational accidents and illnesses are essentially preventable. Our motivated managers and employees play an important part in helping us to maintain a zero-accident culture. Visitors and third parties are offered the same level of protection as our own employees. No instructions contrary to safety are issued. When designing workplaces and procedures, we consider the latest best practice, and place high importance on ergonomic design.

Responsible employees

By regularly providing information, instruction and training, we foster the necessary knowledge and expertise required by our employees to work safely in all areas of the company. The safety guidelines are an indispensable part of company policy for all employees and are made known in training courses and on notices. We encourage everyone to actively participate in the continuous improvement of occupational health and safety and provide the appropriate tools for the participation and consultation of our employees.

Preventative measures

We develop preventive concepts and implement them together at our locations. Employees in managerial and supervisory positions are committed to continually improving health and safety performance, and have access to the required resources. We are obliged to comply with obligations under public law.
